The Olio.

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO. The following is old, but good. It has an inexpressible ancholy, which does not give pain: like a strain of mour music reminding the exile of home.

Where are all the birds that sang A hundred years ago ? The flowers that all in beauty aprang A hundred years ago ? The lips that smiled, The eyes that wild In flashes shone Soft eyes upon : Where, oh where, are lips and eyes, The mairen's smile, the lover's sighs, That were so long ago !

Who peopled all the city's streets A handred years ago? Who filled the church with faces meck A hundred year's ago ? The sucering tale Of sisters frail, The plot that worked Another's burt : Where, oh where, are the plots and sneers, The poor man's hopes, and the rich man's fears

That were so long ago? Where are the graves where dead men slept A hundred years ago ? Who, while living oft times wept, A hundred years ago ? By other men They knew not ther Their lands are tilled, Their homes are filled Yet nature then was just as gay, And bright the sun that shope as to-day,

A hundred years ago ?

THE SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

Where spaces grow bright, and idle swords grow dull ; ere juil's are empty, and where barns are full, church-paths are with frequent feet outworn; court yards weedy, silent, and forlorn; Where doctors foot it, and where farmer's ride; Where age abounds, and youth is multiplied: Where these signs are, they clearly indicate A happy people and well-governed State.

A PUZZLE.-We find the following in an exchange pa with a request to know what it means. A lady asked a gent man for his cypher, and he sent her the following reply:

> You 0 a 0, but I 0 thee; O ! 0 no 0, but O! 9 me, Then let my 0 thy 0 be. And give 0 0 1 0 thee.

We think we can translate the stanza. Par example You sigh for a cypher, but I sigh for thee ; Oh! sigh for no cypher, but O! sigh for me, Then let my cypher thy cypher be, And give sigh for sigh, for I sigh for thee.
